
Dear self-drive guest

As of July 2011, Boulders Safari Camp is much more accessible for the self-drive visitor and can be visited without calling in at Wolwedans.
If you are approaching from the South or the East, you can now drive directly to Boulders. This is also possible, if you visit Wolwedans before or after your stay at Boulders.

If you are delayed or encounter problems en route, please contact us if possible, and we will gladly assist where we can, as well as note your late arrival.

Directions to Boulders Safari Camp via Aandster farm

We are looking forward to hosting you at Wolwedans and Boulders Safari Camp. The map and description below is an accurate guide of the route to follow and distances involved.

Please drive carefully and slowly. Never exceed 80km/h on gravel roads.

Coming from Sesriem (North)

Follow the C27 road past the Wolwe-dans turn-off (on the right-hand side) until you reach the D827. Keep right and continue for a further 13km. Turn right at the gate "Aandster", and drive for another 9 km to the Aandster farm, where you will park your vehicle for the duration of your stay. A Boulders team member will welcome you, and transport you to Boulders Safari Camp, some 15km away.

Coming from Maltahöhe (East)

From the D827, turn left onto the C27. Travel South for a further 13km. Turn right at the gate "Aandster", and drive for another 9 km to the Aandster farm, where you will park your vehicle for the duration of your stay.
A Boulders team member will welcome you, and transport you to Boulders Safari Camp, some15km away.

Coming from Aus (South)

Travel north on the C27 or the D707 (recommended for it's scenic beauty) to Betta. At Betta, continue on the C27 in a westerly direction. Carry on for a further 28 km. Turn left at the gate "Aandster", and drive for another 9 km to the Aandster farm, where you will park your vehicle for the duration of your stay. A Boulders team member will welcome you, and transport you to Boulders Safari Camp 15km away.
